EDGAR AWARDS

The Edgar Allen Poe Award, presented annually by the Mystery Writers of America, was awarded last month for the best in mystery and suspense fiction. The award for best novel went to Attica Locke for Bluebird, Bluebird, a "heartbreakingly resonant" novel about race and justice in America. When it comes to law and order, East Texas plays by its own rules--a fact that Darren Mathews, a black Texas Ranger, knows all too well. Deeply ambivalent about growing up black in the lone star state, he was the first in his family to get as far away from Texas as he could. Until duty called him home. When his allegiance to his roots puts his job in jeopardy, he travels up Highway 59 to the small town of Lark, where two murders--a black lawyer from Chicago and a local white woman--have stirred up a hornet's nest of resentment. Darren must solve the crimes--and save himself in the process--before Lark's long-simmering racial fault lines erupt.—provided by publisher.
