

ALTERED BOOKS Show

We've heard many people say that our Altered Books Silent Auction fund raiser is the most fun art show in Bisbee. Check it out at Central School Project on Saturday, August 31, and see if you don't agree.

It doesn't cost anything to come and look but we hope you'll find something to take home. Artwork can be viewed on Saturday beginning at noon with bidding closing between seven and eight. Party starts at five.

Many artists have been hard at work—some for several months -- creating their piece. Artists donate all or half of the bid money to benefit the Library.

There's still time if you would like to make an altered book. The only stipulation is that some part of a book be incorporated into the piece. The creativity is amazing. Art submissions are accepted at CSP on Thursday, August 29, 11-5.

The artists photographed below were fortunate to take part in a two-day 'book shrine workshop' taught by Tamara Page and sponsored by The Friends. Their creations will be available for bidding at the show at CSP. Hope to see you there.

Among Friends is printed quarterly by The Friends of the Copper Queen Library. Membership is open to anyone who has a desire to support the library.

The Friends meets the second Monday of the month at 5 pm at the library. All are welcome. Membership forms are available at the library.

Just in case you missed this picture...

We couldn't be more proud of our library manager, Jason Makoviac, who is pictured here at the American Library Association convention this summer.

The Friends were delighted to fund Jason's trip to Washington DC where he accepted an EBSCO $1,000 award for excellence in serving a rural population.

Thank you to everyone who responded to our 2019 membership drive. Here are your fellow 2019 Friends. Please accept our apologies if somehow your name has been omitted.
